

Wedding Music Guidelines

The celebration of the sacrament of Matrimony is one of the seven sacraments of the Roman Catholic Church. As such, the marriage ceremony must maintain the norms of good sacramental liturgy. A pre-eminent aspect of good liturgy is the use of liturgical music within the rites of the Church. In order to ensure that church norms are followed, the planning of the Rite of Matrimony and the choosing of appropriate liturgical music should be done by the couple, the presider, and the parish music minister. Visiting priests should observe all church norms as well as established parish policy.

Essential Music

Music chosen for a wedding ceremony must bring all who attend the wedding into full, conscious and active participation in the liturgy. With this in mind, the following is a list of times when music is essential to the wedding liturgy:

The Liturgy of the Word

Gospel Acclamation (Alleluia or Lenten Acclamation)
Responsorial Psalm

The Liturgy of the Eucharist

Holy, Holy
Memorial Acclamation
Great Amen
Communion Song

At all these times, the music is to be sung by all gathered, not just by a music group, choir or a cantor. In order to foster participation, a rehearsal for the wedding assembly should be held immediately before beginning the liturgy.

Other Music

There are other moments when music can be used prayerfully at liturgy.

The Liturgy of the Word

Processional (usually instrumental)
Gathering Song (sung by all)
Invocation to the Prayers of the Faithful (i.e. Lord, hear our prayer) (sung by all)

The Rite of Marriage

Acclamation after marriage vows and/or rings have been exchanged (sung by all)

The Liturgy of the Eucharist

Preparation of Gifts (can be instrumental, sung by cantor, or music group)
Lamb of God (can be sung by cantor, music group or by all)
Hymn of Praise (can be sung after communion by all, music group or cantor)
Recessional (usually instrumental, but can be sung by music group, cantor or all)

Appropriate Musical Choices

The Church offers this guidance when choosing particular music for any wedding liturgy. “Particular decisions about choice and placement of wedding music should grow out of three judgments...

The liturgical judgment: Is the music’s text, form, placement and style congruent with the nature of liturgy?

The musical judgment: Is the music technically, aesthetically and expressively good, irrespective of musical idiom or style?

The pastoral judgment: Will it help this assembly to pray?” (Liturgical Music Today #29)

Therefore, rarely is secular music (popular love songs) appropriate for use during the wedding liturgy. Secular music is best sung at the wedding reception, the rehearsal dinner or other wedding and engagement festivities.

The church documents make no provision for pre-recorded music during the wedding liturgy. Live liturgical music with active participation of the assembly is normative. If a parish must use pre—recorded music at a wedding liturgy on rare occasions, that music should meet the liturgical judgment quoted above.

Parish Wedding Music Guidelines

In the parish policy more can be said about which pieces of music are familiar and suitable to the parish as well as to the wedding liturgy and can list musicians who are available to minister at weddings in the parish. It is recommended that parish musicians are the first choice as wedding music ministers since they know the parish, its church, its instruments, the assembly’s repertoire, etc.

Special Rites and Customs

Certain cultural traditions may celebrate additional rituals in the wedding liturgy (Native American, Filipino, Eastern European, Vietnamese, Hispanic, etc.) Music may or may not accompany these rites.

MUSICAL SELECTIONS

To help you become familiar with some musical options before your initial meeting with the church musicians, here is a list of music to help you.

PRELUDE MUSIC

Special prelude music can be chosen from the many selections listed below. Typically we can begin playing prelude music when the guests arrive; between fifteen and twenty minutes before the wedding begins.

SEATING OF MOTHERS

About three to five minutes before the wedding is to begin, the mothers of the groom and bride, respectively, are seated. This takes about two minutes. If there is a Unity Candle, then once both mothers arrive at their seats, they then go up to the back altar, light taper candles and then proceed to light the two candles beside the one Unity Candle. This process takes about four minutes. Appropriate musical selections are found below.

Air	Bach
Canon in D	Pachelbel
Ave Maria	Schubert
Air from 'Water Music'	Handel
Sheep May Safely Graze	Bach
